

Dolly

Written by AFTR

Well, hello, Dolly, as they say in that famous show. And what a big hello Dolly loves to give, gathering dog and people friends whenever she walks down the street. This sweet girl was sent packing when her family no longer had time for her.

Luckily for Dolly, the Clark's of Maryland couldn't wait to welcome this sweater-wearing party girl into their home, having just lost their previous furkid to illness. Dolly moved from her foster home to the Clark's house, quickly getting to work teaching Mom and Dad to fetch food, treats, toys, and love. But the Clark's wouldn't have it any other way.

They are pleased as punch to have had American Fox Terrier Rescue fix them up with their own little Dolly.

Hello, Dolly, indeed.
