

Sam

Play it Again Sam, or Sam for short, was also part of the Sprucehill Kennel. When Ed Wolff, the owner of Sprucehill, unexpectedly died in 2001, only a few months after his wife Judith had died, American Fox Terrier Rescuers Dena and Dave Lebo-Funk, along with their fellow American Fox Terrier Club member Carol Stull, came to save 8-year old Sam, fostering and re-homing this sweet boy.

Sam has been with his family for two years now. The Bowe's were once large-dog people, but Sam has changed their tune. Play it Again Sam is a loving guy, always looking for a lap to sit in, following his new parents every where. This full-of-personality boy goes everywhere with his new family, swimming in the family pool, helping with chores in the horse barn, and attending local polo matches with the gang. Raise a glass of the bubbly, Sam. You're sure one lucky dog.
